THE FUTURE OF HISTORIC TOWNS, INDUSTRIAL
HERITAGE AND PASTORALISM

2010 AUSTRALIA ICOMOS Annual Conference

Broken Hill Entertainment Centre, Thursday 22nd - Sunday 25th April 2010

Proudly brought to you by Australia ICOMOS in association with TICCIH  TICCIH THE INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL ON INDUSTRIAL HERITAGE

MESSAGE FROM THE CONVENOR

Broken Hill is an exotic part of our country and invokes all sorts of images of Australia. Why would such a significant city find itself on the edge of the desert? How does it sustain itself? Why is it so special? This conference is the opportunity for you to find your own answers to these questions.

To help you with that we have put together a program embracing three big themes related to the nineteenth and twentieth century occupation of Broken Hill.

Historic towns - establishing, maintaining and sustaining an urban centre despite the environment and prevailing economic circumstances.

Industrial heritage - extracting vast wealth from the land and associated environmental consequences

Remote pastoralism - the struggle to tame a difficult environment for economic gain

This is not only your chance to participate in answering these questions, but an opportunity to experience this striking and powerful environment first hand.

We look forward to seeing you there.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Sir Neil Cossons
OBE FSA FMA

Neil Cossons was Chairman of English Heritage from 2000 to 2007, where he headed the working group set up to review the management of England's historic environment. The findings were published in Power of Place which, with the government's response, Force for our Future, set the agenda for the modernisation of heritage protection and management. Neil Cossons was one of the pioneers of industrial archaeology in the 1960s and instigator in 1973 of the First International Congress on the Conservation of Industrial Monuments, which developed into TICCIH. He was the first Director of the Ironbridge Gorge Museum, from 1971, Director of the National Maritime Museum, Greenwich, and for fourteen years Director of the Science Museum, London – the National Museum of Science & Industry. He has published and broadcast widely on industrial archaeology, conservation and heritage management and was general editor of the 8-volume series, England's Landscape, published in 2006.

Sir Neil has broadcast and published widely in his specialist field of industrial archaeology and also on landscape and conservation. Sir Neil Cossons is a Life President of TICCIH and in 1973 was an instigator of the First International Congress on the Conservation of Industrial Monuments.

PLENARY SPEAKERS

Ms Deborah Boden
Post Grad Dip Mus Studies

Deborah Boden started her career in cultural services management in 1986 with Leicestershire County Council, moving to Essex County Council as the County Museum Development Officer. In 2001 she took up the post of Deputy Head of Bristol City Museums and Art Gallery. In 2003 Deborah joined Cornwall County Council's Historic Environment Service as Co-ordinator of the Cornwall and West Devon Mining Landscape World Heritage Site bid. She led the team that prepared the WHS nomination and drafted the accompanying Management Plan which she now implements and monitors. Marketing the World Heritage Site to new target markets, that are consistent with regional and national tourism strategies, is one of the key policy areas covered by this plan.

Deborah's presentation will outline the need to develop a new tourism destination "offer", based on the World Heritage Site and its principles and values. These are derived from UNESCO's operational guidelines and the Cornish Mining Landscape's Outstanding Universal Value, and the many different stories and landscapes that this represents. The Cornish Mining WHS visitor's experience must take in aspects such as landscape, townscape, interpretation and communication, and involve the various partners responsible for these aspects in the development of the a new, holistic, destination.

Gerald T. Takano
BA, B.Arch, A.I.A., M.ICOMOS

Mr. Gerald Takano is President and Principal of TBA West, Inc., a West Coast USA based architectural firm affiliated with TBA Architects, Inc., located in greater Boston, Massachusetts. The primary focus of the firm is historic preservation. In addition to over 12 years experience as an architectural planner and designer, Mr. Takano has worked with communities to build an understanding and appreciation of diversity and the built environment. He is familiar with issues pertinent to governmental entities, numerous non-profit organizations and the private sector on projects involving architectural planning, design and history. He was born in Hawaii and is now resident in San Francisco.

In his paper as a Plenary Speaker, 'Beyond Sentiment: Financing the Rehabilitation and Restoration of Historic Company Towns', Mr. Takano will address the management of historic industrial towns in the Pacific, including: the fishing town and former national capital, Levuka in Fiji; the lumber towns, Samoa and Scotia in Northern California; and plantation towns such as the sugar mill town, Honoka'a in the Hawaiian Islands.

Professor Peter Spearritt
BA (Hons) Syd, PhD (ANU), M.ICOMOS

Peter Spearritt is a devotee of places. He is fascinated about how places market themselves and his paper will examine the marketing of Broken Hill over the last hundred years. His books include Sydney's Century: a history (UNSWP 2000), Holiday Business: Tourism in Australia since 1870 (MUP 2000) and Electrifying Sydney (2004). With colleagues at the University of Queensland he has recently completed the website queenslandplaces.com.au, a guide to the 1100 cities, towns, villages and suburbs that can be found in that state.

With Dennis Jeans and Don Godden he has inspected abandoned mines, abandoned steelworks, abandoned power stations and even inspected working operations, from Departments of Public Works to electricity trading floors. When not on fieldwork Professor Spearritt operates out of a 1970s manque sandstone structure abutting the Great Court at the University of Queensland

Simon R. Motesworth
AM, QC BA, LL.B, LFEIANZ, FAICD, FAIM, FVPELA, PIA (Hon.F.), C.Env.P., M.ICOMOS

Simon Motesworth is chairman of the Executive Committee of the International National Trusts Organisation. From 1980 to 2005, Simon was a councillor of the National Trust of Australia (Victoria), having been its honorary chairman and then president for almost 20 years. He was a board member of the Australian Council of National Trusts and was its chairman from 2001 to 2006. He was a Commissioner of the Australian Heritage Commission for 5 years from 1987. Practising as a barrister, he specialises in environmental, planning, heritage and natural resource law. His family are fifth generation pastoralists, with the Motesworth Pastoral Company and the firm of Motesworth & Ware Pastoral owning stations from the early 1870s in Queensland, New South Wales and Victoria.

In his paper as a Plenary Speaker, 'The challenge of the ephemeral: endeavouring to put principle in to practice when faced with the ephemeral nature of Outback Heritage' Simon Motesworth will draw on his family's pastoral experience on Rupee and Clevedale Stations in the Far Western Division of NSW, not far from Broken Hill.

BROKEN HILL

The Broken Hill Entertainment Centre

The Broken Hill Entertainment Centre is situated in the city centre and close to all accommodation, restaurants, shops and galleries.

"Great City - Great Conference"

Getting to Broken Hill

Delegates must make their own arrangements for travel to the conference. Car-pooling is encouraged (where appropriate) to save on expenses.

Road

Broken Hill is readily accessible on good sealed roads. Approximate drive times from Mildura is 3 hours, Dubbo 8 hours, Adelaide is 5 hours and Sydney is approximately 10 hours. Directions and maps can be located at www.visitbrokenhill.com.au

Rail

The Indian Pacific (Great Southern Railway) and Countrylink both operate rail services to Broken Hill. For timetables, costing and bookings contact Great Southern Rail on www.gsr.com.au or 132 147 or Countrylink on www.countrylink.com.au or 132 232

Air

Regional Express (REX) - operates daily direct services from Sydney (via Dubbo) & Adelaide. Visit www.rex.com.au or call 131 713

Virgin Blue - flies to Mildura. From Mildura, Broken Hill is a 3 hour drive, however the flight into Mildura arrives at about 6pm. It is a good idea to stay overnight in Mildura before proceeding to Broken Hill, to avoid animal hazards on the road at dusk.

Accommodation

A variety of accommodation is readily available in Broken Hill within walking distance of the conference venue. For accommodation options, or to make a booking, visit the Broken Hill website.

Visit www.visitbrokenhill.com.au for further details about this great part of Australia.

SOCIAL PROGRAM

The conference will include a number of social functions to allow conference delegates to catch up with old acquaintances and meet new friends, whilst enjoying unique Australian outback experiences, gaining access to special heritage places and experiencing true country hospitality.

Day 1 | Thursday 22 April

Early evening welcome drinks at Broken Hill Regional Art Gallery (formerly Sullys Emporium), an adapted heritage building, and winner of many heritage awards, in the main street of Broken Hill, Argent St. The Welcome Reception is included in the conference registration fees.

Day 2 | Friday 23 April

The Conference Dinner will be held at the Trades Hall in Broken Hill, one of the most historic buildings in the city with very strong cultural significance and presence both internally and externally. The dinner will be fully catered and include a three course dinner and entertainment. Alcohol can be purchased separately at the bar. Tickets for the Conference Dinner can be booked and purchased separately and are $65 per person.

Day 3 | Saturday 24 April

The dinner will be a relaxed event as a finale to the Saturday afternoon excursions and will be a good old fashioned country BBQ. Alcohol can be purchased separately at the bar. This meal is included in the cost of the Registration for delegates and is part of the Saturday afternoon excursion. Accompanying persons can purchase tickets for the excursion and dinner at the Silverton Hotel separately.

Day 4 | Sunday 25 April

Opportunity to attend the Anzac Day dawn service in Broken Hill. Final sunset drinks at the Sculptures in the Living Desert. This is included in the cost of the Registration for delegates and is part of the Sunday morning excursion. Accompanying persons can purchase tickets for the excursion and Drinks at the Sculptures separately.
