

Adam Mornement

Adam Mornement is a heritage consultant with Lovell Chen, Melbourne. He is a graduate of Brighton University (UK), with a degree in the History of Design. Before relocating from England to Melbourne in 2006 he worked as a writer specializing in contemporary and nineteenth century architecture. Published books include, Corrugated Iron - Building on the Frontier (Frances Lincoln, 2007), Extensions (Laurence King, 2007) and Infill (Laurence King, 2008).

Australian Institute of Architects

ISC20C

ICOMOS International Scientific Committee on 20th
Century Heritage